Salhouse Weekly Update	Wk commencing 15th September

Dear parents and carers,

Welcome back to the new school term – and the first official Salhouse Weekly Update! It has been a wonderful week to be a part of school life, with Reception children, in particular, doing incredibly well as they become a part of life in the main school.
Swimming and PE lessons have begun, children have continued to enjoy Forest School and music lessons will begin next week too.

We have already begun to accumulate a quantity of lost property! Please ensure that your child's uniform is clearly named so that items can be easily returned.

We would like to spotlight reading this week. Developing a love of reading in children is vitally important in increasing their confidence, attainment and life chances. Research shows that taking time to hear children read and taking an interest in what they are reading (including steps like writing in their reading record), as well as being a role model for reading at home, positively impact children's love of reading – a life-long skill.
